

The Ace of Clubs Person

The Desire for Knowledge Card

The desire for knowledge, accompanied by the desire for love (Two of Hearts Karma Card) are the main influences for this card. Combine these together and you have a person who is a student of love as much as one who would truly like to find their ideal mate. This card has been known for promiscuity, but this is only true until they find the person of their dreams. They would rather be with anyone than alone, but will not give themselves fully until the right person comes along. Like all Aces, they are impatient and restless. Their curiosity leads them to be avid students, often with immense libraries and collections of learning materials of all kinds.

They are very smart and can use their brains and creativity to generate ample funds. They can make money in things associated with the arts or groups of women, anywhere creativity and quick thinking can be utilized for profit. They are very congenial and this helps them make friends at work and gives them good communications skills. They have very quick, sharp minds, and they are witty and avid talkers.

Their later years will not be satisfactory unless they turn to spirituality for guidance. They are the divine discontent card and need travel and changes in life and their work to satisfy both their desire for knowledge and their inner restlessness.

Some of the Ace of Clubs Issues Concerning Relationships

Like the Two of Hearts, many Ace of Clubs have the reputation of being promiscuous. However, this only occurs among those who have not yet found their true love, for whom they all are searching. If and when they find the person of their dreams they are as devoted as possible. They have that romantic glow in their eyes because they know there is a special relationship out there for them somewhere. They never let go of the dream of true and lasting love. Consider yourself lucky if they have chosen you as this special person in their life.

These loving and gentle people always have many friends and usually a good circle of friends. They need to express themselves and their creativity. It is often in this expression that the need for multiple relationships occurs.
